tested EGR valve which was replaced with an aftermarket part in april 2016, as best I can tell it is working correctly. feedback readings are 1V closed, 3.7V fully open, there is a solid clunk as the valve opens. Connected an old faulty EGR valve to the electrical connector engine ran the same. Blanked the EGR off, engine still runs the same.

Astra H z14xep: intrerupe la turatie constanta

Hey, I'm starting to get a bit desperate, have been turning the internet around and tried my best to find any kind of help. I have a Mk5 Astra, Z14XEP engine that has a ruined EGR plug. I'm trying to find the wire colors assigned to the EGR plug's pins to repair the damage. This is vital to pass MOT here in Finland and best i've so far found was a guide to install egr cheater on the plug.

On a 2006 Astra the 1.4 litre engine is probably the Z14XEP Twinport engine. If it is then it cant be blanked and you will need to replace the EGR Valve. My life is strewn with the cow pats from the devils own satanic herd
