54 quotes from Autobiography of Red: 'Words bounce. Words, if you let them, will do what they want to do and what they have to do.'

Metaphor as Self-Discovery in Anne Carson's Autobiography ...

All this flickers through Carson's "Autobiography of Red," a hybrid work of poetry and prose that includes witty critical reflections on Stesichoros and an imaginary interview with him. (Like other famous authors questioned about the "concealment drama" in their work, he produces inconsequential remarks that read like a cry for help.)

More than anything, though, Autobiography of Red is a romance. Not between Geryon and Herakles, though, but between Geryon and life. And reading Carson's story draws you into that life and makes you think about your own. For her, as for Stesichoros, Geryon is not just a side character in the story of Herakles' triumph.

Autobiography of Red by Anne Carson: 9780375701290 ...

Anne Carson's Autobiography of Red is a novel in verse, the author's first. A classicist by profession as well as a poet, Carson has drawn on antiquity for her cast, updating the myth of Geryon and Herakles. In the original version, of course, Herakles killed the red-skinned, winged Geryon.

Autobiography of Red by Anne Carson - Goodreads

Carson captures the ontology of love and all its facets with wrenching accuracy. Her spare prose pulls the reader into Geryon's senses with a deftness that gives his world the immediacy of a dream. A reflection on passion, loneliness, and the sustaining power of art, Autobiography of Red is as sensual as it is elevating.
