Dalbergia sissoo is a woody plant with economic and medicinal value. As the pharmacological qualities and properties of the wood from this plant primarily depend on its extractives, in this study, the metabolomic analysis of extractives from its stems was carried out using UPLC-MS/MS. A total of 735 metabolites were detected from two groups of samples, heartwood and sapwood, with the largest ...

Automation Groover Solution

Groover first stepped foot onto CB's shop floor in 2017, when he visited to see the shop's new 3-kW fiber laser in action (his then employer was thinking about purchasing one). During the tour, Groover paused by the punch tool sharpening station. "Chris and I got to chatting," Groover said. "And he asked us, 'Do you guys have a ...
