Cisco CCNP ROUTE Steps to Configure a Route Map There are two steps with implementing route maps.
First the route map needs to be defined (includes defining the conditions to match as well as action(s) to be taken when the condition is matched) then the route map needs to be applied to an interface.

Route redistribution is one of many concepts that is very important to understand at the professional level (as well as for the CCNP ROUTE 642-902: Basic Route Redistribution exam). Many modern corporate networks utilize more than one routing protocol across their networks, and redistribution is a key piece of this configuration.
