For refinishing, especially, hand-brushing is always preferred. If one chooses to spray the paint on the cedar, the best results will be achieved by back brushing the finish during application. With a porous material like cedar, the main idea is to apply a greater quantity of paint to the wood, and hand-brushing is the best way to accomplish this.

Woodworking With Cedar Varieties - The Spruce Crafts

One of the great features of cedar, however, is it's easy to cut, saw, nail and glue. Do-it-yourself cedar siding is easy to do for those reasons, plus you're installing one relatively small piece at a time, rather than large, bulky sheets that are awkward to handle and install. Cedar siding is available in a variety of styles.
