Ed's Red Bore Cleaner – tried out a batch | firedbrass

Ed's Red' Bore Cleaner I have been reading up on the subject and also visiting barrel makers sites and discovered that Ammonia in concentrations greater than 10% is considered destructive. That advice to pour Ammonia down the barrel is fine if the concentration isn't too high and that advice pertained to household ammonia that is highly diluted but I think the caution was missing.

Ed's Red Formula - Gunloads.com

Ed' Red is great, I have used it for years. The acetone will take the paint off sights and can damage plastic, but as a bore cleaner it makes it more effective. However, since I powder coat my bullets I don't need a strong bore cleaner. I leave out the acetone and I add the optional lanolin to the mix.
