Honda recalls Acura and Honda vehicles with timing belt issue

The first step in timing belt replacement is selling the job. For many years, the industry standard for belt replacement was 60,000 miles. Those of us with more experience can even remember when 30,000 miles was the norm.
Over the years, the materials and processes used in timing belt manufacturing have allowed Honda to move that interval to 90,000 miles and 105,000 miles.

Timing belts are more likely to fail than timing chains, but both should be inspected on a regular basis and for those engines employing a timing belt, regular replacement is essential. If your Honda was built after 1997, the replacement interval for your timing belt is typically around the 105,000 mile mark.
