"Araby" is the third entry in James Joyce's 1914 collection of short stories, Dubliners. Critics have thematically separated Dubliners into three sections—childhood, adolescence, and adulthood—and "Araby" falls under the first of these. In it, a young boy falls in love with a girl and vows to buy her a gift at the eponymous local bazaar to prove his love for her.

About | Mapping Dubliners Project

Dubliners is a collection of vignettes of Dublin life at the end of the 19th Century written, by Joyce's own admission, in a manner that captures some of the unhappiest moments of life. Some of the dominant themes include lost innocence, missed opportunities and an inability to escape one's circumstances.
