Marx considered the capitalist class to be the most revolutionary in history, because it constantly revolutionized the means of production. In general, Marx believed that the means of production change more rapidly than the relations of production.

Karl Marx - HISTORY

In truth, the validity of Marx's theory of class struggle has been borne out by the history of the working-class movement. Under capitalism the class struggle has intensified. The 20th century saw far more revolutionary movements than any other, including the first successful socialist revolution in Russia in 1917 (a revolution that was later betrayed, but nevertheless happened).

Marx's Theory of Historical Materialism

Marx knew that revolutionaries needed a new theory of history. So he took the best theory of history then available, that of Hegel, and he stood it on its head. The result was a new theory of history as summarized by Marx in his preface to A Contribution to the Critique of Political Economy written in 1859.
