Maple syrup is a syrup usually made from the xylem sap of sugar maple, red maple, or black maple trees, although it can also be made from other maple species. In cold climates, these trees store starch in their trunks and roots before winter; the starch is then converted to sugar that rises in the sap in late winter and early spring. Maple trees are tapped by drilling holes into their trunks ...

Maple understands two distinct notations for indexing. Mathematical indexing is achieved via square brackets,  $M[\text{index}]$ , and Programmer indexing is achieved via round brackets,  $M(\text{index})$ . Only rtable subtypes (Array, Matrix, Vector) understand programmer indexing. In other contexts this is understood as invoking a function call.
