Catherine Parr (sometimes alternatively spelled Katherine, Katheryn, Kateryn or Katharine; c. August 1512 – 5 September 1548) was Queen of England and Ireland as the last of the six wives of King Henry VIII from their marriage on 12 July 1543 until Henry's death on 28 January 1547. Catherine was the final queen consort of the House of Tudor, and outlived Henry by a year and eight months.

Martin Parr

Martin Parr is a chronicler of our age. In the face of the constantly growing flood of images released by the media, his photographs offer us the opportunity to see the world from his unique perspective. At first glance, his photographs seem exaggerated or even grotesque. The motifs he chooses are strange, the colours are garish and the ...

American, born 1951. Philip-Lorca diCorcia's photographs straddle truth and fiction by combining real people and places—but not necessarily people and places that naturally go together. The theatricality of his images is carefully constructed: he arranges the objects of each scene and devises precise lighting and framing for every project.

Todd Parr is one of my favorite authors for a good reason, his simple books cut to the heart of whatever topic he is tackling. What I love about this book is that it talks about how we all feel different emotions sometimes. Sometimes we are mad or sad or silly! The bright colors capture your audience as well.
