Udder-to-pail is the most natural, though not always most efficient, way to transport milk from cow to consumer. Science has not found a good substitute for the udder, but it has triumphed in making milk packaging more sanitary and utilitarian. Until the end of the 19th century, milk was brought to the market in cans o

From Cow to Carton – Be Legendairy

Cows are normally milked at least 2 times per day. Milking time takes about 5 minutes per cow but depends on the type of machine and the amount of milk the cow is producing.
Most dairies have enough machines to milk over 20 cows at one time, reducing the amount of time the cows wait to be milked.
