Probably Stephen's speech was recorded in Paul's mind as Paul traveled with Luke, Paul told Luke what Stephen had said as Stephen's sermon went deep into Paul's soul and helped in writing the other epistles. Saul became Paul, the Holy Ghost has caused for Paul to remember his sins.

The life and the martyr of Saint Apostle Stephen the ...

Notice how the newness of life of the apostle Paul merges with the lifestyle that Stephen had adopted (and probably would have continued had his life been spared). Stephen had preached Jesus as the Son of God in the synagogue in Jerusalem. In Damascus, Saul (Paul) "preached Christ in the synagogues, that He is the Son of God" (Acts 9:20).

(20) When the blood of thy martyr Stephen . . . .--Better, thy witness. The English word is, perhaps, a little too definite and technical, and fails to remind us, as the Greek does, that the same word had been used in Acts 22:15 as expressing the office to which St. Paul himself was called. He probably used the Aramaic word Edh, of which the Greek martus (witness, and, in ecclesiastical Greek ...

Paul And Stephen

This book will show the reader the greatness of Paul of Tarsus, a courageous, daring and sincere man, who repented for his radical posture that culminated in the stoning of Christianity's first martyr, Stephen, and who humbly undertook the accelerated revision of his ideas in answer to Jesus' call.

Part II: Saul of Tarsus and the Martyrdom of St. Stephen ...

Stephen: This early Christian deacon was a zealous defender of Jesus Christ and The Way, as Christianity was called in its first few years. While his name implies he may have been Greek, Stephen was well-educated in the history of the Jewish people. The Bible says he was filled with the Holy Spirit, who gave him wisdom and courage to preach despite fierce opposition.

Salem Possessed: The Social Origins of Witchcraft: Paul ...

Paul and Stephen I re-listened recently to Sinclair Ferguson's outstanding presentation, "Justification and the New Perspective on Paul" (online here ). In passing, he made the following observation about Paul and Stephen, which I found intriguing in that I had never drawn more than an incidental connection between the two men before: Saul happened to be available to hold coats while Stephen was stoned.

11. The Stoning of Stephen (Acts 6:8-8:1) | Bible.org

The Death of Stephen It is remarkable how completely Stephen, before his death, is the forerunner of Apostle Paul, both in the form and the matter of this defense. His securing the attention of the Jews by adopting the historical method during his trial is exactly what the Apostle did in the synagogue at Antioch in Pisidia (Acts 13:16 - 22).

During the stoning of Stephen, according to the book of Acts, "the witnesses laid their coats at the feet of a young man named Saul," who later converted to Christianity and took the name Paul. Then they dragged him out of the city and began to stone him; and the witnesses laid their coats at the feet of a young man named Saul.

Stephen Nissenbaum - Wikipedia

And it is not improbable that every time St. Paul was to mention his former persecution of the Church, the face and voice of St. Stephen was the first to come to his mind. It is also of little doubt that the image of St. Stephen falling upon his knees as he courageously awaited his death was one of the primary sources of inspiration St. Paul would draw from in later years for the endurance of his great trials of afflictions.

Stoning of Stephen Bible Story Study Guide

Stephen's feelings about the Temple seem to have been more completely negative than those of the first Christians generally; the latter, including St. Paul, continued to frequent it. Its sacrificial rites served in many ways to shape the theological interpretation of salvation through the death of Jesus. There is no hint that Stephen assigned doctrinal significance to the death of Jesus.

SGNY » Paul and Stephen

Stephen was "full of grace," and the words of Stephen at the time of his death are a testimony to this fact. He was not an "angry young preacher," a hostile fellow belching forth the fire of hell. He was a man who loved his listeners, who prayed for their forgiveness and salvation. Paul was a delayed answer to this prayer.
