Craig Silvey's book Rhubarb is set in Fremantle, Western Australia, at the tail end of the 20th Century. We follow blind girl Eleanor Rigby and her restless steps through the streets and along the beaches of Fremante with Warren, the guide-dog who objects to being named after a rabbit dwelling and has Lassie aspirations.

RHUBARB by Craig Silvey, Book Review: Strikingly original

Rhubarb is a lot more than a love story. It's written in the 3rd person. Normally I don't like this tense in writing but Craig Silvey makes it work. We get to know and love the 2 main and appreciate the supporting characters. Humor is sprinkled liberally through out but it's not a comedic novel. All the characters are vivid and well developed.
