What alternative can we imagine to imperialism and fascism? The Kurdish liberation movement never had any illusion about the long-term partnership with imperialism but, conjuncturally, necessarily had to work with an imperialist power against a fascist army (an army which was, in fact, a result of the conditions of the imperialist

The essential lesson of Rojava is that people are already actively building the alternative world others are still trying to imagine. It is wounded and abandoned, but still breathing. And it does so despite lack of support from the international left, repeated invasions, annexations, colonization, ethnic cleansing and the use of illegal chemical weapons against it by Turkey and its proxy

One alternative to US-sponsored autonomy was returning to al-Assad tyranny. Rojava's dream scenario was an Öcalan mediated peace process between the PKK and the TAF in Bakur (northern Kurdistan in Turkey) that would relieve Turkish pressure across the border on Rojava. The nightmare scenario was the Turkish occupation of Rojava.
