Sorry to say, guys, but processed junk food really cranks up the stink dial, like to an 11. A diet heavy in processed foods is basically a ticket to stench land. Here's the funny part though, we know for sure that choline causes a fishy odor, and we've determined scientifically how sulfur contributes to smelly sweat.

The smell of camphor also repels mice. Most people don't like the scent of it, either. So, while you probably don't want to use it in your home's living areas, camphor works great in seldom-used areas like attics and sheds. Try adding a handful of mothballs to an old sock and hanging it near windows in those places.

The Maltese is clean and is great in apartments because he is one of the small breeds that does not stink. He gets along great with cats but does like to bark, and some breeders warn that they are not good with small kids. If you are thinking about getting your first dog, this is one of the best breeds to consider.
