The internal ribosome entry site within the intergenic region (IGR IRES) of the Dicistroviridae family mimics a tRNA to directly assemble 80 S ribosomes and initiate translation at a non-AUG codon from the ribosomal A-site. A comparison of IGR IRESs within this viral family reveals structural similarity but little sequence similarity.

Picornavirus mRNAs contain IRESs that sustain their translation during infection, when host protein synthesis is shut off. The major classes of picornavirus IRESs (Types 1 and 2) have distinct structures and sequences, but initiation on both is determined by their specific interaction with eIF4G.

Download complete document; Overview. Changes to Part 154 of Commissioner's Regulations in 2015 that layout the requirements for the instruction of English Language Learners (ELL) require that the majority of instruction for ELLs be integrated into the content areas, especially English language arts.

HCV-like IRESs displace eIF3 to gain access to the 40S subunit

Therefore in contrast to Type 2 IRESs, initiation on Type 1 IRESs requires that eIF4G directly recruits eIF3, most likely as a component of the 43S complex. Figure 6. Direct interaction of eIF4G with eIF3 is required for recruitment of 43S complexes to the PV IRES
