Brueg(h)el the Elder was not a physician and his painting of a yawning subject has nothing to do with dystonia. Pieter Brueghel the Elder dropped the 'h' from his name in 1559, one year after painting the De Gaper . Brueghel the Younger was also a painter, further confounding historically exact usage of this eponym .

Currie & Allart's "The Brueg(h)el Phenomenon" monograph set which I wrote about recently has been an invaluable resource in conducting research about a Pieter Brueghel III painting. As background, in preparation for a recent trip to Australia, I was interested in determining if any works derived from Bruegel the Elder were to be found on the continent.
