The Incredible True Story Behind the 2019 Film "Breakthrough"

In Dallas Buyers Club, an emaciated Matthew McConaughey plays real-life AIDS victim, Ronald Woodroof. Woodroof, after he was diagnosed with AIDS in the mid-1980s, started a venture called the Dallas Buyers Club, which distributed AIDS treatments not yet approved by the FDA to those who couldn't afford (or suffered ill effect from) the new AIDS drug at the time, AZT.

Rocketman tells the true story of iconic artist Elton John, but it's also a dramatization of his life, so fans may be wondering just how accurate the movie is to the singer's story. The thing is, despite remaining faithful to many, many aspects of Elton John's life, the Rocketman movie does sport some changes and eliminations in its effort to tell a good story.

The Film Club: A True Story of a Father and Son by David ...

Written with a minimum of flourish and little in the way of sentimentality, The Film Club explores the uneasy intimacies that develop between father and son, the lessons passed on from elder to younger, and the surprising discoveries Gilmour is able to make about himself through his son's experiences (particularly Jesse's ongoing heartbreak over his first true love). There are no tragedies or revelations here, just the tribulations of two men finding their way in the world.
