NOTHING in the ancient history of man is of more considerable interest than are those monuments, at once rudely grand and mysteriously simple, which have been designated megalithic. They may be simply raised stones, isolated menhirs, cromlechs arranged in a circle, or artificial caves formed by placing flat flags horizontally on standing supports.

The purpose of this paper is to analyse the critical role reflection plays in work-based learning (WBL). This paper presents a contextualist examination of reflection in the WBL environment. People consciously reflect in order to understand events in their lives and as a consequence hopefully add and enhance meaning. Reflection is associated therefore with “looking back” and examining the ...
