At auction it's condensed into a matter of minutes rather than months and when the hammer falls, you own the property. Consult our handy guide before you attend your first auction:

The Property Auction Guide

The auction guide price, as the name suggests, is just a guide. In fact, it's often set low in the catalogue to entice bidders and the property could sell for 10% more than that. As the guide price on a property can be raised before the auction even starts, usually when it's generated a lot of interest, make sure you monitor it closely in the lead-up to the day.

Buying Property at Auction - Buyers Guide to Property Auctions

Unlike estate agents who in the vast majority of cases simply quote an asking price, auctioneers quote a 'guide price' or a 'guide price range'. The key difference here is that whilst an estate agent's client is likely to accept an offer at the asking price and sell the property, in auctions the bidding may go well above the guide and reserve before being sold to the highest bidder.
