During this process, the researcher coded the data using a variety of approaches. Continued reflection on, evaluation and comparison of these approaches informed the adaptation of a dual approach to qualitative analysis which combines CAQDAS (NVivo) with traditional materials of coding (colored pens, paper, and display boards).

Qualitative Content Analysis

Though not confined, there are three main 'categories' (in a broad sense) that are commonly used for research designs when analysing data: Qualitative, Quantitative and Mixed Methods

Approaches. In that broad sense, they incorporate all of the other methods available in some way or other.
